Energy targets and measures

- a) To define energy efficiency target(s)
- b) Reinforced implementation of existing legislation, including active policy on infringements
- c) Proposing new legislation

As a hybrid of the two represents a better benchmark upon which to frame a 2030 objective

Long-term thinking is needed. The sectors with highest potential of energy saving should be preferred (such as buildings).

Definition of NZEB should become more specific. Renovation strategies should be more solid and better designed.

Existing legislation currently does not solve renovation at all. The future directive, next to the EPBD and EED, could be BRD (Building Renovation Directive).
