answer as a citizen

Dear Madams and Sirs!

Thanks for the possibility to give feedback concerning the green paper.

We are situated in Austria and run a small paperboard mill with about 65 employees.
The credo is:
PLEASE let us work, NO bureaucracy!

As an energy intensive enterprise (more than 15% of the turnover is cost for energy) we have a high interest ourselves, to reduce the consumption of energy.
You do not have to force us , it is in our own interest!
To do paper work and audits hinders our technicians to work on optimizations at the energy consuming machines. We therefore miss this time to reduce energy saving steps.

I will bring an example:
Since 2005 we take part in the EU CO2 certificate trade.
Through this we are forced to prepare concepts for audits, document a lot, pay a lot of money to the ECRA and the companies that make the audits.
Through the above mentioned work we reduce the CO2 emissions by 0%.
Bureaucracy and paper work does not reduce CO2 emissions at all.

What reduces CO2 emissions is optimization of our engineers at the machines!
PLEASE do not steel this time.

Best regards

Christoph Merckens
