Energy Market Design and Redesign Gas Market

- The current network code development process is well-balanced between EC, ENTSOG and ACER with well-received input from stakeholders at all stages - this process should be respected by EC and ACER
- ACER should primarily focus on strengthening and coordinating the work of national energy regulators at EU level
- Changes of the gas market design should be preceded by an analysis of the existing market design

GIE is proud to support

Gas Naturally

GN is a campaign to showcase the essential role of natural gas in the forthcoming energy revolution. The mitigation of climate change has become one of the most important issues for the gas industry.
