Executive summary – ENTSO-E conclusions

- ENTSO-E is at this moment not able to recommend one Vendor for the European XBID solution. This is based on the outcome of the PX's selection process and their own assessment and given the fact that the offers are not comparable
 - However ENTSO-E concludes
 - performance is an important issue for the future XB Intraday market solution. The study by one of the PXs on system performance raises questions regarding the performance of one vendor. However, since the other system was not assessed it is unknown if there is a significant performance difference between the two vendors.
 - in the commercial offers, there is a difference in the prices provided by the two vendors. However at the moment only one vendor's offer is committing to fulfill all the technical requirements. The other vendor has not priced in all the requirements and therefore TSOs are not knowing the total price.
- Based on the above, at this moment TSOs cannot accept the PXs majority for one Vendor

Way forward - ENTSO-E advice towards ACER for solving the deadlock situation

- Because of importance to have an efficient XB Intraday Market, the process between vendors/PXs/TSOs should not be stopped but should be continued in a limited timeframe
- Given all these ENTSO-E finds it is necessary to
 - ensure that appropriate measures are taken to give the Vendors the possibility to update their commercial bids
 - having the same performance tests run by both Vendors. This in order to have a chance to make a full comparison.
- ENTSO-E suggests PX's and ACER to investigate whether an independent consultant can facilitate and support to finalize the process as an ultimate possibility in a limited timeframe

Thank you very much!
