

Agenda 01 A

Gas in the future EU energy mix – the contribution of gas to a low-carbon energy sector

The Producers perspective:

- Natural Gas plays an important role in providing security of supply in the European market
- Natural Gas is flexible and stable source going hand in hand with RES
- Gas transmission systems are now being harmonised by framework guidelines and network codes improving the flow of gas all over Europe
- Domestic resources as shale gas should be exploited to enhance the independence from external suppliers