

PORTUGAL

Date of data collection or reference period	National weighted averages of consumer prices are calculated on a daily basis. For the purposes of the weekly Oil Bulletin the Portuguese authorities report the weighted average price for Monday of the week of each petroleum product
Reporting body	Directorate General for Energy and Geology
Reporting price discounts on motor fuels	Portuguese authorities take into account the volumes of fuel sold with discounts in the previous year and the respective discounts applied. The reporting operators provide on annual basis information about the total volume sold with discount in each retail station, by type of discount applied and by each type of fuel sold (such as fleet cards or fidelity cards, other cards to members of automotive clubs or football teams).
Market coverage and data sources	Data is provided by all the retail stations operators in the mainland of Portugal (around 3000 retail stations), which are registered on the web platform https://precoscombustiveis.dgeg.gov.pt operated by the Portuguese authorities. In 2020, Oil companies represented 65% of retailers, large stores 19% and “the others” 15% .
Price averages	Weighted average is based on the reported volumes sold in the previous month and on volume sold with discount in the previous year, by each reporting operator.
Biofuels	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Exemption duty for biofuels or biofuel blends • Incorporation verified in 2020: 6.71% by volume for diesel oil
Other indirect taxes reported	Contribution of Road Service (CSR) – (Law nº55/2007, of 31 August.) applicable to gasoline and diesel oil and a CO2 tax, since 2015.
Other specific remarks by national administrations	In 2009 Portugal introduced the web platform https://precoscombustiveis.dgeg.gov.pt , where retail stations operators located on the mainland of Portugal, are obliged to report the retail prices of fuels sold in their retail stations, before applied at the fuel pump. In addition, the owners or operators, are required to report, monthly, the volume sales (also considering the volumes with discounts, but of the previous year) by type of fuel, in each retail station. It is also possible to sign with DGE, vide web platform, one procedure called “Share of Information”, where some entities share with public in general, the web information, with no economic interests, vide web platforms and mobile apps, for IOS and Android.
